

Tips for Outdoor Play

We all know what sandcastles are but have you heard of snow castles!
A tactile activity which offers up the opportunity to get out in the snow and have some fun!

You will need

- The usual stuff you take to the beach!
- All sandcastle building equipment (sandcastle moulds, cups, bowls, shovels etc)

How to guide:

- Sandcastles are super fun to make in the summer but building snow castles can be just as much fun!
- Firstly gather your sandcastle building equipment (cups, bowls, shovels, etc.)
- Get out into the snow and pack the snow into your sand castle building moulds or into your bowls -whatever equipment you have.

How to guide:

- You don't even need to have moulds or bowls you can go #freestyle and pile the snow up and shape it with your hands.
- Create fancy castles and decorate with the materials at hand- frozen leaves can become flags, bring the toys out for some fun play time in the snow castles
- Or why not have a snow castle competition who can build the biggest or the most elaborate castle in a set time!
